Tim is the best guitar teacher I have ever had. He is not only a great guitarist and great guitar teacher, he has been a great friend and role model for me throughout my years of playing guitar. I learned so much from him and I recommend him completely to anyone looking to get serious about guitar playing. He's a downright good guy and a great teacher who knows everything there is to do on the guitar.

Tim has been teaching me guitar since I was 16 and realized I had reached a level in my playing above which I would not move unless someone guided me. Tim taught me how to do everything I had been trying to do. Tim gave me the ability to play how I had wanted to be able to play. Now, whether I need to bust a solo over somebody's crappy country song, shred with friends, or sit at home and jam, I have the power to do so. Tim helps me stay motivated to play when I'm stuck in a rut, and constantly challenges me with new material in need of conquering! Meyfarth!

I've known Tim for many years and each day I come for a lesson I learn something new. Anything you Want to learn, you can just bring it to him and he will teach you right away. Not always will he teach you the easy, simple ways to learn the song but he will teach you the difficult but better way of learning the music you want to learn. Tim is very patient and a great teacher who I have learned a lot from.

~~As a young man, I was always a fan of music and I was always looking for a good band to join. I was always looking for a good band to join. I was always looking for a good band to join.~~

Tim worked closely with my band in highschool ever since I started playing guitar and guided us to become much better song writers. For one of our shows, he even filled in for our guitarist Blair (another student of Tim's) after he broke his wrist. Tim is a great teacher, and a perfect role model for children.

Tim Meyfarth changed my whole way of learning how to play the guitar. He made it easier, more fun, and definitely more interesting. He will teach you what you want to learn in a fun and interesting way.
